Abstract and Presentation Terms and Conditions

By submitting an abstract, you have agreed to the terms and conditions as set out below:

- You grant IPEM a non-exclusive right to publish, reproduce, distribute, display and store the abstract and presentation worldwide in all forms (including on the Institute's website), formats and media now known or as developed in the future, including print and digital forms. You will retain copyright of your abstract and presentation, in addition to the moral rights you are entitled to as author of the abstract.
- The author is responsible for the accuracy of the content.
- All proffered speakers presenting at the conference/event must register and pay to attend if there is a registration fee. IPEM reserves the right to offer complimentary speaker positions where applicable.
- If the author(s) have any commercial interests or associations that might pose a conflict of interest regarding this submission, they must be declared. If accepted for presentation, the commercial interest or association must be declared on the title slide or the slide immediately following the title slide.
- You give us permission to film or photograph your presentation at the conference/event, which may be used on the IPEM website. Please state in your submitting email if you do not wish for us to film or photograph your presentation or if you wish for it to not be distributed to attendees.
- You confirm that the submission has been approved by all authors.
- At least one author will be available to present the abstract if selected for the programme.

Abstracts must be submitted electronically by the date and time specified. Abstracts received after the date may not be accepted. Faxed or posted abstracts will NOT be accepted.

All presenters must provide a telephone number when submitting their abstract that they can be reached on in case of any queries.

Abstracts, Presentations & Posters — Copyright and Permissions

These requirements apply to delegates, speakers and exhibitors who provide abstracts, presentations, posters, training content or digital media for an IPEM event. By providing material, you confirm that you have checked copyright, own the material or have obtained the necessary permissions, and will comply with the applicable licence conditions.

Third-party Material

Check the rights and licence terms for all images, photographs, charts, graphs, diagrams, illustrations, maps, videos and other third-party content before including them. Material found online, on social media or through an image search is not automatically free to use, even if no credit is shown. Educational intent alone does not remove the need to check permissions. Where rights are unclear, obtain permission before using, altering or modifying the material, or use a suitable alternative.

Credits and Evidence

Acknowledge creators and sources and provide any attribution required by the licence or permission. Obtain necessary permissions in writing and retain evidence; a rights holder's silence is not consent. Permissions must cover the intended use, including sharing materials with delegates after the event where applicable. If material is supplied for IPEM training, check the rights for that separate use and send IPEM copies of the necessary permissions.

Patient Information and Identifiable People

Obtain explicit written consent for recognisable patient photographs, explaining the intended use. Patient scans must be completely anonymised before presentation. For digital images or videos that you supply, make sure you obtain permission from everyone who can be seen and identified, using IPEM's Model Release form where applicable.

AI-generated Images

Clearly state on each AI-generated image that it is AI-generated.

Availability After the Event

Presentations and posters will be made available to delegates after the event. If you do not want your material included, or wish to supply a redacted version, notify IPEM at conferences@ipem.ac.uk. Ensure the version provided for sharing contains only material cleared for that use. Abstracts are available upon request.

Storage and Use by IPEM

IPEM will store supplied material and use it only for purposes relating to its charitable, educational and professional activities. It will not be sold on or used commercially outside those purposes. Personal information, including names, will be used only as agreed.
